

Describe a traffic rule or law you know about

You should say:

- What is it?
- How do you know about this law?
- Whether you follow this rule/law or not

Introduction:

Laws are always made for human benefits. I am neither a law expert nor I have sufficient knowledge regarding this traffic rules. But I like to believe for sure that each and every country in this world has its own set of traffic laws to maintain order and discipline on their road. From my point of view, traffic rule is one of the most significant laws in a country or at least as good as others.

What is it?

The law, I am talking about, is a law that allows the traffic authority of my country to punish a drunk driver by suspending his driving license for a long period of time and then putting him into prison for 2 years. In addition to these punishments, the authority is also allowed to fine a hefty amount of money which I can't remember exactly.

How do you know about this law?

Now the question is how I knew about this special law. The answer is that I had to learn this law in order to get a driving license after passing the written test together with a road test.

Whether you follow this rule/law or not

I always abide by all the laws. But to be honest, very few times I drive over the speed limit when roads are almost empty. I am afraid I might be fined for this. It's really difficult to accept strict laws when fines or punishments are imposed on himself or herself.

Imaginary something:

As far as I could vividly remember, some days ago, my neighbor Mr. Abdullah who is very naïve person was fined 7000 tk just because of expiring his driving license only for 2 days. Since it was the time of Covid-19, he could not renew his license.
